

Digitalisation of the teaching/learning content which was crucially important during the Covid-19 pandemic hasn't lost its value. Digital interactive activities continue playing an important role in adding more variety to classroom work, raising students' engagement and allowing to teach and learn not only in traditional contact mode.

Personally, I found cooperation with the colleagues from different countries and institutions in this project useful and exciting 😊 Sharing of the experience was extremely valuable. It was an excellent opportunity for me to also learn more about the cultural and historical background of other countries and develop my language and communication skills. 👍
